ing grenades. Polson jumped out and dragged one of the wounded soldiers to the helicopter. The fourth man in the helicopter crew, Lance Cpl. John Phelps of Louisville, Ky., helped Polson drag another man toward the chopper. The guerrillas came closer and Fairfield cut down three of them with his light machine gun. The rescuers managed to get a third wounded GI aboard but the fourth died on the beach.

Meanwhile, four U.S. Army gunships arrived overhead and began firing on the Viet Cong. After 20 minutes, Pless spotted a South Vietnamese helicopter arriving and decided to leave. He coaxed his overloaded chopper into the air, but not before its skids skipped four or five times on the sea. The Vietnamese helicopter picked up the body of the dead American from the beach. His throat had been cut.

The Sentinel-Record said an inventory of the dismantled equipment was presented to a person it described as being familiar with gambling equipment, although not a gambler.

The source said 24 slot machines would cost about $500 each to replace, five table tops about $150 each, one crap table layout between $800 and $900, five crap tables about $1,000 each, four "21" tables $350 each and that $500 would cover the cost of aprons, dice, sticks, cards and chips.

Football Is Talk of Rotary Meet

— Coaches Glaze, Austin, Lawrence, Higgins and Solomon

— B.N. Holt Photos With Star Camera

Football for 1967 was the theme of the Rotary Club program last Friday at the Town and Country. Freddie Glaze, head football coach at Hope High School, was the principal speaker, but Coach Johnny Majors of the U of A was a surprise guest.

In a few brief remarks Coach Majors expressed uncertainty about the outlook of the Razorbacks this year, especially in the offensive department. He said the two objectives of spring practice were to establish the players in their positions and to try to build a foundation for the future team. The results have been good in many phases this year, but the split ends have produced problems and there is a question about the kicking ability of the team.

Coach Glaze introduced defense Coach Ronnie Higgins, defense Coach Bill Lawrence, and junior high coach Caylord Solomon, and each brought information about his department. Coach Glaze said the spirit of the Bobcats is excellent, and that in the conference race this year the 4AA teams are all strong and would present a challenge.

When they give you concrete—they're giving you a first-class highway. Reports from state after state show that concrete pavements have outlasted other types 2 to 1. The new roads will do even better!

Fifty years from now, cars will still be rolling smoothly on this same concrete . . . and the same surface. (Concrete doesn't get rippled and wavy—doesn't have to be resurfaced 4 or 5 times.)

Concrete grows stronger with age—doubles in strength in 20 years. Other paving materials act just the opposite: Sun, rain, freezing can't hurt concrete.

That's why concrete pavements can be designed to match tomorrow's heavier traffic loads, stay flat and smooth-riding. That's why it's so easy on the taxpayer's pocketbook. Upkeep costs stay low—as much as 60% lower than for asphalt.

Engineers build for your safety, too. Concrete means a skid-resistant pavement, and one that lets you see better at night. To learn more about the advantages of concrete highways, write for free booklet.

Gambling Devices Worth Only $20,000

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — The gaming devices confiscated in the State Police's raids on four private clubs here worth only about $20,000, according to a story in Sunday's edition of the Hot Springs Sentinel-Record.

The article quotes an unidentified source as saying that the gambling equipment confiscated was worth about $20,550—about one-third of the worth estimated by Lynn A. Davis, the new director of the State Police.

Davis had said the equipment was worth between $60,000 and $70,000.

"Maybe they (the newspaper) know more about gambling equipment than I do," said Davis of the story.

The Sentinel-Record said an inventory of the dismantled equipment was presented to a person it described as being familiar with gambling equipment, although not a gambler.

Wedding Vows

Are Repeated

Miss Carolyn Sue Gilbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Agee Gilbert of Fulton, Arkansas, became the bride of Lieutenant Ray Gerald Tudor, son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Tudor of Jonesboro, Louisiana, at 4:00 p.m. Saturday, August 19, in the Little Rock Air Force Base Chapel at Jacksonville. Rev. C.V. Ellis of Baton Rouge, Louisiana officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Marriage vows were exchanged before the altar which featured a matching pair of pedestal baskets holding mass arrangements of pale pink chrysanthemums, and stately arched tall pink lighted cathedral tapers accented with dark greenery and pink satin bows. A large arrangement of pale pink chrysanthemums were also seen in front of the baptistery in the background. Pews for the families were marked with lighted pink tapers, dark greenery and pink satin bows.

Candles were lighted by Lieutenant James Harshbarger and Lieutenant James Swayze. Mrs. Patricia Waits of Shreveport, La., sister of the bridegroom, presented a program of nuptial music and accompanied soloist Miss Janet Roberts, North Little Rock in a selection of appropriate wedding music.

Mr. William G. Tudor served his son as best man.

Lieutenant James Harshbarger, Lieutenant Ken Kissell, Lieutenant Chris Schell served as military honor guard.

Preceding the bride down the aisle, were the honor attendants, Miss Janet Roberts was Maid of Honor. Miss Patricia White, North Little Rock, and Miss Phyllis Tudor, Jonesboro, La., sister of the bridegroom were bridesmaids. They wore A-line dresses fashioned in shades of pink Serano and dyed to match peau-de-soie shoes. Tiered circlets of pink silk illusion were attached to Serano fabric roses sprinkled with seed petals forming the bridesmaid's headpiece. They wore short white gloves and carried cascade bouquets of deep rose feathered carnations accented with deep rose ribbons tied with love knots.

The bride entered the sanctuary on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage.

She wore a floor length gown designed and made by her, of white silk peau-de-soie, fashioned with imported Chantilly re-embroidered lace wrist length sleeves, and spray appliques of lace accenting a bateau neckline and extending down the front of the fitted bodice and A-line skirt.

A detachable chapel length train falling from the shoulders was of white silk peau-de-soie and also enhanced with spray appliques of lace around the back neckline and extending down the sides and along the hemline. Her veil of silk illusion fell in misty tiers from an open crown of seed pearls and crystal bugle beads.

She carried a cascade bouquet of feathered carnations centered with a white orchid and showered with white satin streamers tied in love knots. She followed tradition by wearing something old, new, borrowed, and blue, with a sixpence in her shoe.

After the ceremony Miss Janet Roberts sang The Lord's Prayer as the couple knelt on a satin covered prie dieu.

Mrs. Agee Gilbert, mother of the bride, chose an ice-blue Peebles, in the home of the bride's mother on Friday evening, Aug. 11, at 6:30 p.m. Only members of the immediate families were present.

Monday, August 21, 1967 Davis Hearing Scheduled for Monday

By ED SHEARER
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The eligibility question clouding the appointment of Lynn A. Davis as State Police director was on today's agenda for Circuit Judge Warren Wood.

A friendly suit seeking salary payments to Davis, along with an intervention testing his eligibility, was scheduled for hearing before Wood at 1:30 p.m. today.

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller appointed Davis to the job despite an opinion by Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell that Davis did not meet a 10-year residency requirement in a 1945 law setting qualifications for the position.

Both Rockefeller and Davis have expressed confidence of victory since the attorney general's opinion of early July. Purcell has said his case was strengthened when it was learned that Davis had resided in Texas for 16 months prior to accepting a job with the FBI.

Davis, 34, nephew of a former Miller County Sheriff, is a native of Texarkana, has taught school in Miller County and has worked with the Texarkana Chamber of Commerce.

While working with the chamber, Davis moved his family to Wake Village, Tex., a Texarkana suburb. He joined the FBI about 16 months later, and subsequently served with that agency in Illinois, Colorado and California.

Davis had purchased Arkansas poll taxes for several years prior to his move to Texas, but did not do so after he moved. He registered to vote in Texarkana four days after his July 14 resignation from the FBI.

Last week Davis personally led a State Police raid that netted what he estimated at $60,000 to $70,000 worth of gambling equipment from four clubs in Hot Springs.

The friendly test suit was filed on behalf of Davis and members of the state Police Commission as individual taxpayers the same day Davis took the oath of office. It asked that fiscal officers in state government be ordered to pay Davis' salary.

Purcell later intervened, asking that Davis be removed from office on grounds that he did not meet the eligibility requirements. Purcell's intervention placed the full question before the court.

Regardless of Wood's decision, in the case is probably bound for the state Supreme Court, which returns from its summer recess next month. Rockefeller has said he is prepared to carry it to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary.

Cape Is on the Scene

Fashion designers are promoting the cape. This fall, capes can be flared or cut narrower than the average model. And cape lengths vary, too, stopping inches above the elbow, anchoring at the knee or the newest mid-calf length, or dropping to the floorboards. Fabrics range from satin to flannel.

CEMETERY SEARCH for gravestones was necessitated in the Jewish cemetery on the Mount of Olives after graves were desecrated by Jordanian forces during their defense of Jerusalem in the Arab-Israeli war. The Jordanians reportedly used tombstones to reinforce trenches while fighting the Israelis.

Expect Cong to Create Trouble

By BARRY KRAMER

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. authorities told American servicemen in Saigon today to watch their steps at night because of the Viet Cong terror campaign aimed at disrupting South Vietnam's Sept. 3 presidential election.

A U.S. mission spokesman said American officials also are considering an order restricting U.S. personnel to their living or working areas for the election weekend, to avoid terror incidents and to demonstrate that the United States is keeping hands off the election.

Such an order was in effect during last year's election of the South Vietnamese constituent assembly.

A letter to military units in the Saigon area advised U.S. servicemen to avoid travel at night, move in pairs and avoid crowds. It said terrorism aimed at Americans has increased in recent weeks and further trouble is expected until after the election.

In the election campaign, Tran Van Huong, considered the leading civilian candidate for president, charged Sunday that an increase of 390,000 in the number of registered voters in the last month indicated fraud.

"We are prolific in Vietnam but we are not that prolific," the former premier said in reference to a government announcement that the list of registered voters had grown to 5.85 million.

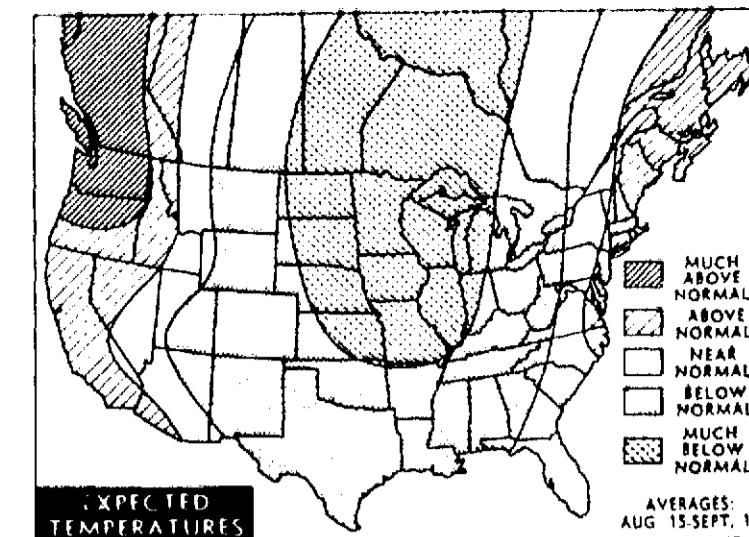

The figures, Huong said, back up his accusation last Tuesday that the government is enabling soldiers to vote twice by issuing them two voting cards—one at their bases and one at their homes.

Most Vietnamese soldiers are expected to vote for the military ticket—Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu for president and Sunday, bringing the total Premier Nguyen Cao Ky for known death toll to seven—four vice president—which is expected in Fairbanks, one in Nenana ed to win.

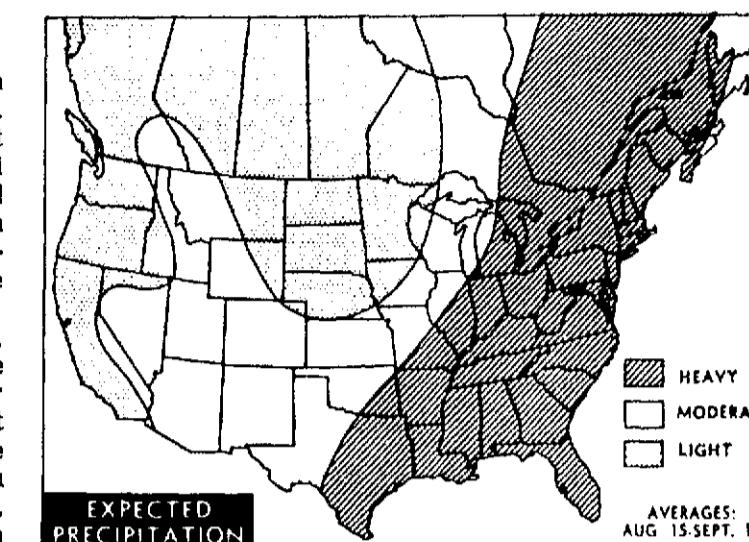

Phan Quang Dan, running for one of the new victims, Bill vice president on another ticket, Wardzella, 54, was found in the said he believed it was true that back room of a business house many soldiers received two voting cards.

Marshall Is Described as Prepared

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thursday good Marshall was described today as "perfectly prepared" to be a Supreme Court justice—and also as "a constitutional iconoclast" whose appointment is a disservice to the country.

The conflicting views are stated in majority and minority reports of the Senate Judiciary Committee, which voted 11 to 5 to recommend confirmation of Marshall's nomination. The five voting against him are Southerners. The first Negro ever nominated for the court, Marshall is a former judge on the U.S. Court of Appeals in New York.

The committee vote was announced Aug. 3 but contents of the reports became known today.

President Johnson submitted his nomination June 13. No date has been set for the Senate's confirmation vote.

The majority report said Marshall's long, close association with the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People did not disqualify him but rather redounds to his and the nation's benefit.

"For as director-counselor of the NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund for so many years," the report said, "his extraordinary legal ability was honored and proven in every court of the land."

The minority report said the Supreme Court has become dominated by "judicial activists who amend the Constitution while professing to interpret it" and declared Marshall's confirmation would add to their number.

Judge Marshall is by practice and philosophy a constitutional iconoclast," the minority said, and his elevation to the court would make it "virtually certain that for years to come, if not forever, the American people will be ruled by the arbitrary notions of Supreme Court justices rather than by the precepts of the Constitution."

England Has Become Hippie Heaven

By TOM A. CULLEN
European Staff Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

LONDON — (NEA) — Americans who flee to England in hopes of escaping the hippies might just as well stay at home. For the hippies, or "flower children" as they are called here, have invaded the British Isles.

London, in particular, has become a hippy hunting-ground for hippies, who camp out in Piccadilly Circus and Trafalgar Square. The tourist finds himself stepping over their prone bodies as he goes about his sightseeing.

Britain's flower children are rather pale carbons of those found in New York's East Village, or the Haight-Ashbury district of San Francisco. The girls here wear the same microskirts as their American sisters, and paint their arms and legs with floral designs.

The boys wear flowers in their hair, blow soap bubbles or burn joss sticks.

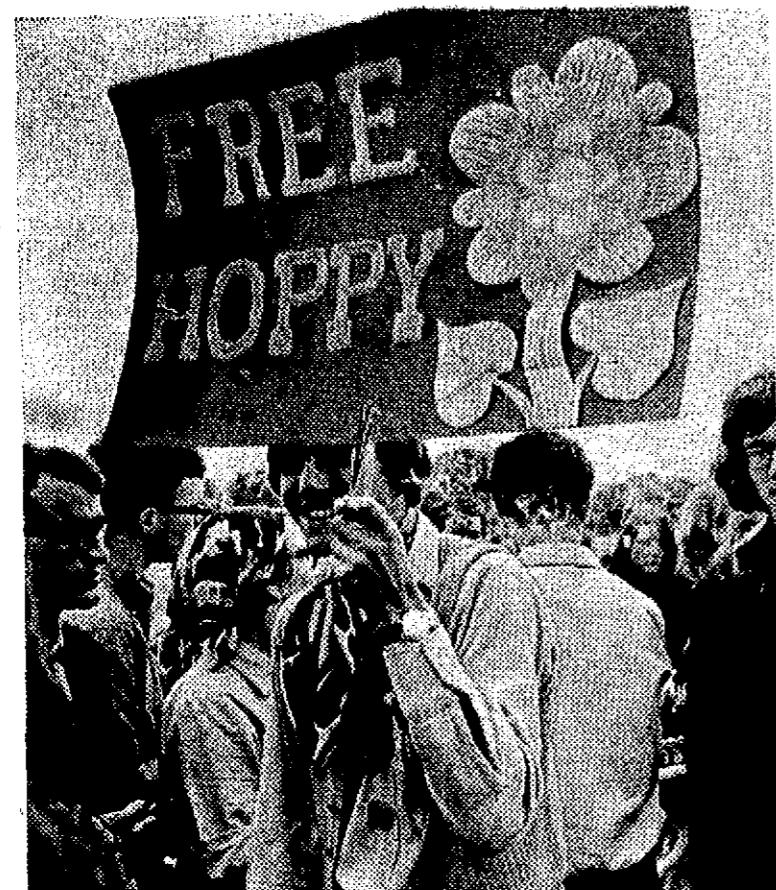

The language, too, is universal, "be-ins," "love-ins," and "freak-outs" being common jargon here as in America. But Britain's flower children differ from the American variety in subtle ways.

For example, there is a breakaway cult here that leans heavily on the Druids. Its followers wrap themselves in sheets and sit on London's Primrose Hill at dawn to watch the sun come up, or else they travel to Stonehenge in order "to feel the vibrations" given off by the stones at this ancient Druidic place of worship.

By and large, the flower children are even less politically oriented than the American hippies. The government announcement that it is considering lowering the majority age from 21 to 18 has met with complete apathy on the part of the pretty people here.

Most of hippies do not want to be considered adults at the age of 18. They have a horror of shouldering adult responsibilities. Even if they are allowed to vote at 18 they will stay away from the polls, they indicate. They make the American "cop outs" and "dropouts" look like political activists by comparison.

"Why should we bother to vote when nothing we can say or do will influence the politicians?" is the way a flowerpot boy with beads around his neck expressed his attitude. "All we ask is to be left alone."

So far the pretty people have been left pretty much alone, the police position being: You can do what you like as long as you don't frighten the horses. At some of the hippy night spots, such as the U.F.O. Club in London, entrants are required to sign a form that they have no marijuana or other drugs in their possession. But aside from this formality there is very little police surveillance of the flower scene.

As for the "grave responsibilities" the Lord Chief Justice of the Appeal Court placed on his shoulders when he released him, Jagger is opting out. "My responsibilities are only to myself," he tells newsmen. He might well be speaking for Britain's entire flower generation.

Many Would Delay Vote in Vietnam

By BARRY KRAMER

GIA DINH, Vietnam (AP)

Most of South Vietnam's civilian presidential candidates agreed today with a proposal by U.S. Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., that the election be postponed for four weeks. But some voiced pessimism that it could be done.

"Most of the tickets want to postpone the election. They think it would be an excellent idea," said former Premier Tran Van Huong, considered the leading civilian candidate in the Sept. 3 election.

"We lost about two weeks after the Dong Ha incident, while the government candidates continued to campaign and use government facilities to campaign," he said. But Huong added, "If we postpone it too long the people might lose interest."

The "government candidates" are Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu and his vice presidential running mate Premier Nguyen Cao Ky.

The Dong Ha incident occurred Aug. 6 when the civilian candidates traveled 425 miles by government plane to northernmost Quang Tray, but became angry by what they said were inadequate government preparations. They canceled the trips to the provinces and resumed them only last Wednesday.

Javits proposed in a speech Thursday that the election be postponed "to permit a more meaningful campaign."

He said the Thieu-Ky government had "gravely compromised" the election process and that an extended campaign period would allow restoration "of full confidence in the meaningfulness of these elections."

Candidate Nguyen Dinh Quat said, "It is a very good proposal, but I don't think it can be effected. All the laws regarding the election were passed by the assembly and they would have to change them."

Ha Thuc Ky, one of the leading civilian candidates and no relation to premier Ky, said, "If the election is postponed it would be very good for us. We have only a month to campaign and have already lost two weeks."

Truong Dinh Dzu, another candidate, said a two-week postponement would be better than four weeks.

One dissenter was Dr. Phan Quang Dan, vice presidential running mate of Phan Khac Suu, chairman of the assembly.

"If you postpone the election many things can happen," he said.

He said if the candidates were not already known by the people then "they are not worthy to win" and more time would do them no good.

The candidates spoke in Gia Dinh today, the third day of their renewed tour by government transportation that will take them to 11 places outside Saigon.

The crowd of 1,800 persons that greeted them was relatively small. Gia Dinh Province which surrounds Saigon, has about 560,000 registered voters.

Thieu and Ky have not appeared. A local representative apologized for their absence, saying they were on official business in the provinces. Ky was in Da Nang and Thieu was in Phan Rang.

Javits took Gibraltar from Spain in 1704.

Political Purity Hard to Come by

By JAMES MARLOW

AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The news out of South Vietnam was so unpleasant, with reports the Sept. 3 presidential election may be rigged, that Congress bubbled with indignation and President Johnson had to step in.

He warned the military leaders, whose top men are running the nation now and are up for election, that crooked balloting would cost South Vietnam the support of the American people.

Whether or not the American indignation is justified, it seems a little self-righteous.

It appears to be asking the South Vietnamese people, with no real experience in politics or democracy, to achieve suddenly an ideal political purity which this country has found trouble achieving after almost two centuries of elections.

In this century Americans have been beaten up in American polling booths. There has been widespread political corruption. The Senate still finds it necessary to check on some of its members' campaign funds and how they got the money.

And it wasn't until 1965 that Congress passed a law to make it possible for thousands of Negroes in the South to vote for the first time.

The basis for the American indignation, of course, is that American lives and wealth are being spent in Vietnam to help the people there to self-determination as Johnson explained.

But even if the elections are honest, or fairly honest, undoubtedly there will be new troubles for Johnson to endure at a time when so many Americans are divided about the war, wanting the bombing stopped or the war stopped.

For instance, Thich Tri Quang, the militant Buddhist monk, has indicated Vietnam may be in for another burst of Buddhist riots if Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, now chief of state, is elected president.

Thieu, along with Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky, now premier and running for vice president on the ticket with Thieu, is part of the military group which is and has been for years giving Vietnam the only government it has.

It was a recent remark by Ky—that the ruling military junta would overthrow any government winning the election by fraud—which prompted the outcries in Congress.

But from the moment the elections were arranged, Americans had reason to be skeptical about the outcome or the ability or stability of any government which was not run by the military.

If nonmilitary candidates won the election they couldn't survive without the help and obedience of the military.

Therefore, remembering the political history of the country since 1954, and the unsophisticated political condition of the masses of peasants who have had no more experience in the ideals of democracy than in the ideals of communism, it should be no surprise that if civilians won the election honestly, they were then tossed out by the military, after a decent interval for American benefit.

But the reports from Vietnam point to the likelihood that Thieu and Ky will win the election easily. They have the advantage, from their years of public exposure, of being better known to the voters than any of their rivals.

No doubt Johnson and his advisers would be glad to see the Thieu-Ky team win, but not under scandalous circumstance, since they have shown some stability and this government has had prolonged experience in dealing with them. Any of their inexperienced rivals would be a new and unknown reality for the Americans.

Johnson has expressed more patience and tolerance than some of the critics. He said this week the elections "might be without a blemish" but he urged against being too critical.

"We cannot impose impossible standards for a young nation at war," he said.

Greek Resistance Leaders Jailed

AGRINION, Greece (AP)—Police said Thursday they have arrested two men they identified as members of a Communist-led resistance organization which has been distributing leaflets attacking Greece's military dictatorship.

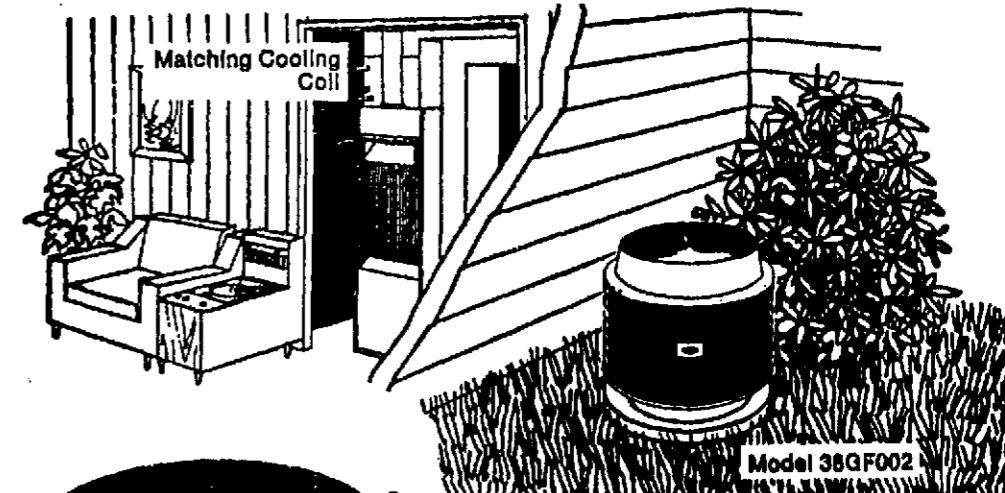

They said more arrests are expected in Agrinion, a central Greek tobacco town known in the past as a hotbed of leftist activity.

Police said the group was the Patriotic Antidictatorship Front. They identified the men as Tassos Tsilos, a local leader of the now disbanded Moscow-line United Democratic Left party, and Panayiotis Moschonas, a party member. They said Tsilos had been sought since the April 21 military coup.

Police broke up what they called another branch of the group on the island of Crete last month and arrested eight persons.

a Taxpayer Paper

Here's a prime example of how federal taxes are spent for strange purposes without your knowledge or consent unless some forthright citizen spots the fraud and voices an angry protest.

Over the week-end I received a letter from Mike Carozza, director of the Southwest Arkansas Development Council, Inc., of Texarkana, a division of the Area Office of Economic Opportunity.

"This agency," he writes, "has been funded for four neighborhood service centers as you already know. In order for these communities to be adequately served by these centers we are planning to publish handbills and a small publication titled Community Action News. x x x

"Our intention is not in any way to interfere with the regular channels of providing news and information for southwest Arkansas x x x If you feel that this would be accepted as far as your newspaper and its services are concerned we would appreciate a letter from you stating this fact."

"In order to print these publications this office will purchase an offset printing press and the news items explained above plus brochures explaining and illustrating the work of this agency will be the only reading materials printed."

The cold truth is that this is a proposal to set up a government printing plant and a government publication. But I don't think Mr. Carozza and his alphabet agency can really bring it off. Far from giving him a letter agreeing to it I am filing my objection to it in this editorial.

Furthermore, I spent part of this morning telephoning other newspapermen of southwest Arkansas to put them on the alert. The Star doesn't do commercial printing, but the papers in neighboring counties do. They have facilities to print any brochures that the government may require—and they should be given the business rather than face this threatened invasion by a tax-financed government printing plant.

I have placed the issue before the Arkansas Press Association, Little Rock, suggesting: (1) A trade protest to our congressional delegation, and (2) Retention of legal counsel to look into the matter of obtaining an injunction to halt any proposed purchase of printing machinery with tax funds, a legal fight in which this newspaper would expect to pick up its part of the cost.

I have no personal quarrel with Mike Carozza. All I know about him is that he was a Protestant minister at neighboring Nashville who "went federal."

But his reason for writing me his letter of Aug. 18 is obvious. This summer the federal anti-poverty agency announced it planned to establish a government newspaper on the East Coast—and it was stopped almost instantly by public opinion and a hostile Congress.

Obviously it was hoped to head off opposition to the Texarkana proposition by obtaining endorsement letters in advance from neighboring newspapers—a tactic which I hope this morning's telephone alert has destroyed.

More Lumps Receives Safety Award for Foreign Aid Plan

Mrs. Verner McMurtrey, left, Hempstead County Extension Homemaker Council president, receives safety award plaque from Mrs. Luther Carson, State Extension Homemaker Safety Chairman of Mansfield. The award was made at the State Extension Homemaker Council Meeting August 16-18, in Little Rock for the council's efforts in promoting safety in the home and on the highway.

"I think the chances are excellent for some substantial reductions," he told a reporter, adding he is unsure whether attempts also will be made to cut the military assistance program.

Supporters of the aid measure conceded privately that many members, probably faced with a later vote on President Johnson's income tax surcharge, will vote to trim the bill. Chairman Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., predicts "a very difficult time" for it.

Adair said an effort also will be made to limit the program to one year.

In a surprise move, the Foreign Affairs Committee voted to authorize the program for the current fiscal year and fiscal 1969. Debate was scheduled to start today but voting on amendments was not expected until Wednesday, with final action likely Thursday.

Starting with an administration request of nearly $3 billion, the House committee cut $219 million. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, however, whacked off $737 million, and the full Senate trimmed an additional $100 million before passing the bill last Thursday.

The amounts in the bills are authorizations, or spending ceilings, with actual appropriations to be voted later.

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail: You're advised to see your dentist twice a year, but most Americans don't. Only 38 per cent visit their dentist once a year.

Perhaps you ought to check the condition of your stairway. Insurance people say that 13 percent of home accidents result from falling on stairways. Here's a surprise: Going up can be as dangerous as going down.

What are the 10 most unpleasant words in the English language? Someone suggested these: Belch, grub, slop, ground, asphalt, scratch, quack, backache, hunk and crabgrass. But here are the 10 that I'd nominate: "Yes, we've deposited your last paycheck and you're still overdrawn."

Worth remembering: "Nobody grows old by merely living a number of years; people grow old only by deserting their ideals."

It was Mark Twain who observed: "Part of the secret of success in life is to eat what you like and let the food fight it out inside."

Even the power of a hydrogen bomb pales in comparison to the power of a hurricane. These awesome storms can lift 2 billion tons of water from the sea in a single day—and in a single hour release more energy than is produced by all the power stations of the nation in a decade.

More Strikes Made in Hanoi Area

By JOHN LENGL

DA NANG, South Vietnam (AP)—It was four wounded GIs on the beach against 50 Viet Cong possibly bent on torture until a plucky Marine helicopter crew came to reverse the odds.

The four American soldiers had been aboard a CH-47 Chinook helicopter that touched down on the beach 65 miles south of DaNang Saturday to evacuate wounded. They jumped out and took up firing positions to cover the evacuation.

The Chinook came under heavy guerrilla fire and the pilot gingerly lifted the craft to see if it would still fly. It did. But the fire began coming so heavily he decided to keep the craft in the air and fly out with 15 wounded aboard. The four GI defenders were left alone.

Coupled with the pounding of the North, American B-52s made four strikes Sunday and Monday—three of them in the demilitarized zone dividing Vietnam—and 240 Communist soldiers were reported killed in scattered but often fierce ground fighting and air strikes in South Vietnam.

The U.S. Command reported more scattered acts of terrorism as the South Vietnamese presidential election Sept. 3 neared and warned Americans to take precautions. U.S. servicemen were told to avoid crowds, move in pairs and be doubly careful at night. Similar warnings were made during the constituent assembly elections last year which the Communists also attempted to sabotage.

The U.S. Command also reported that a Marine helicopter and four Army gunships killed 20 Viet Cong after the helicopter pilot spotted about 50 guerrillas torturing four wounded U.S. soldiers Saturday. The helicopter rescued two of the Americans alive, but the other two died.

Pless ordered his door gunner, Sgt. Leroy Polson of Mason City, Iowa, to open fire on the Viet Cong. Then, Pless said, "I put my sight on the back pocket of the last man and walked my rockets through the middle of the crowd."

He put his chopper down on the beach. The Viet Cong inched back, firing their rifles and toss-

WASHINGTON

The administration's foreign aid program, fresh from a drubbing in the Senate, appears headed for more lumps in the House.

The mayor said, however, that city police were less than three minutes behind every incident reported.

One white man was arrested and handcuffed. Officers said they found an M-16 semiautomatic rifle, several pistols and eight or nine boxes of ammunition in his car.

Of the ten Negroes arrested—none identified—seven were booked with vagrancy, one with obscenity and disobeying police, one with carrying a concealed weapon and the other with disorderly conduct.

At least four break-ins were reported to police, but there were no signs of looting.

Earlier, two reporters for the Baton Rouge Advocate said Negroes threw firebombs at their car and at two other autos on an expressway south of the city.

Earlier, police used Billy clubs and rifle butts to disperse a group of Negroes who jeered whites just before the start of the Klan rally. A few Negroes were knocked to the ground.

The Negro rally came off despite the absence of scheduled speaker H. Rap Brown. The Black Power advocate was jailed Saturday in New York on a charge of violating a federal firearms law.

The governor had told State Police Supt. Thomas Burbank: "If anyone makes any treasonous or seditious statements, arrest them on the spot, handcuff them and take them to jail."

McKeithen also issued orders to shoot quickly if a riot started.

The Negro rally marked the end of an 11-day civil rights march from Bogalusa to Baton Rouge. The marchers on the two occasions were attacked by angry whites.
